The Authority of the head of States regarding dissolving the Parliament in The Jordanian Constitution system- Comparative study.

This study was divided into a preliminary chapters and two chapters. In the introductory chapter, we examind the characteristics and foundations of the Parliamentary system in which the solution is exercised by the competent authority.

In the first section we dealt with the constitutional provisions for the dissolution of the Parliament in the Jordanian and Egyptian constitutions and the constitutional guarantees and restrictions of the solution.

In the second section we devoted to study the legal effects of the solution in the Jordanian and Egyptian constitutional systems. we also discussed the reasons for the solution in these two systems, in conclusion, we presented the most important findings and recommendations.
